Donald John Trump, an interesting fela. He is the president of the United States for the second time, and he has done some interesting things. I don't really like him, and these are going to be my reasons why I don't like him.

Past Behaviour

People tend to argue that his past behaviour doesn't matter, and one must only look at his present behaviour. This is because people change because they take the tides in the ocean, and to judge them for who they were could prove to be a mistake.

This is a fair argument, but it is also fair to assume that there is also a chance he didn't really change that much. And if that is the case, then I am kind of worried. Because in the past Donald has said a lot of disrespectful stuff about a lot of people, and if these are still his true feelings, he could be a problem. For example when he said "I don't even wait. And when you're a star, they let you do it. You can do anything. ... Grab 'em by the pussy. You can do anything" (Cole, 2016). Is he still a misogynist? Is he still a part of the "rape culture" and "rape culture" development where now he respects women and doesn't believe that you can just grab them by the pussy anymore. But given that he was once a civil case where he was accused of Sexual Assault, and the way he continues to speak of women as less, and the fact that like 28 other women have said that he did had stuff, and that he has had relationships with Epstein, it's just kind of inpredable.

So that's my first point, he has said and done some bad stuff in the past, but what is wrong with him now? ??????

DOGE

So one of the first things Donald did was collaborate with Elon to create the Department of Government Efficiency. It was meant to do some Mile-Style cutting of some useless government spending. But it has been a failure. Not only did it not cut as the executive, it cost problems. The first problem is that there were some clear ideological biases, they seemed to target anything that had any DEI initiative in it. Elon Musk, the CEO of Tesla, also tried to support this.

- They cut funding to the NIH's into research that mentioned "Assistive Diversity" which just sounds like subtly differentiated research to me. They also cut a lot of stuff that was coming from the same branch that studied how to help people that suffer from hearing problems.

- USAID programs were cut because they had the word "Equity", but it had nothing to do with the "Equity" that the woke people use. Apparently financial equity is an economics term. Unless Musk and Trump are Marxists, I don't know why they would be against economic effort.

-"Inclusion" and "Accessibility" in keywords in Education and Training related grants also seemed to be targeted. In total 373 Million dollars were cut from the department of education. Inclusion and accessibility are very important in the context of education. For people with disabilities like ADHD or Dislexya or Autism

So they cut stuff that had DEI terms even though they might not have had anything to do with DEI. Furthermore, they cut a lot of stuff that was meant to prevent discrimination from taking place in the workplace, and in the workplace. Now, I can agree that if done incorrectly, it can cause problems hurting people in the workplace, but that doesn't mean anything DEI should be eradicated only monitored or better managed.

Also they claim that they saved like 215 Billion dollars but everyone basically knows that that is a lie. The Nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office put the numbers at like 20 Billion.

The argument against this would be that despite sources proving otherwise, the number isn't fake and the government did unerctly cut a lot of programs off and save that amount of money. But despite the fact that they cut a lot of important and especially research programs with absolutely no evidence of them being a waste of money, I would still call this a fail.

Tariffs

I know it's kind of unfair to preface this section with this fact.
But according to STANFORD UNIVERSITY, 93% of economists disagree with Donald's decision to implement a mass tariff against the world. (Bernhardt, 2025)

Economist Paul Krugman says that tariffs act essentially as a tax on American people. To quote "a tariff is basically a selective sales tax — foreigners do not pay it, whatever Trump may say. It's consumers pay" (Krugman, 2025).

According to Yale, the tariffs were significantly more negative for lower income households "The price level from the April 2nd announcement alone rises by 1.3% in the short run, the equivalent of an average loss of consumption equivalent to $1,200 per household. Losses for households at the bottom of the income distribution are $980 under the April 2nd policy alone." (Budish, Shoag, & Yale, 2025)

Now I know what you are thinking, I'm quoting too much without doing my own analysis. That's because I haven't read much on the topic and I don't feel like I'm an expert on everything even so. So all I can do is trust on these economists and hope that what they say is true. But now I'm in the future, so I know that is not true.

It turns out that the taxes didn't impact the economy as negatively as most economists thought, but they claim that this was because Donald mostly backed off the more extreme tariffs.

Also, a little story, my father sells organic goods to the US, and while Donald was on his tariffs, he was very worried about how they would affect his business. Some of Donald's tariffs were a good idea, his execution was terrible, he would announce tariffs one day, change them the other, completely cancel them in some cases. My father was changing his plans all the time, and he couldn't effectively operate because of Donald. Not only were his business practices at risk, he basically fucked with the efficiency of the whole process, and I imagine this happened for every other importing and exporting business.

Not to mention that Donald used tariffs basically as bargaining chips for other political purposes. I just think Donald went a little crazy with the tariffs for no particular reason, and he overall fucked up the entire tariff system. Economics is so uncertain of what the fuck he was trying and to do. Still I'll only count this as a half-claim because even though everyone I've talked to about this agrees that Donald fucked up, I don't know if they were in fact right, I'm not an expert. I don't know much about economy. There is also a theory that Donald was intentionally manipulating the market to make money off of it, and he gave his rich friends who had spoken of information and stuff too. I don't know about that. It's just a theory.

ICE

So fuck the whole other thing. The RIGHT WING seems to have this narrative that the feckin immigrants come to the countries and they fuck everything up. They decrease demand for workers and increase the supply, thus decreasing the minimum wage, and they also increase crime because most immigrants are poor and evil and they steal and murder

Thus Donald's main campaign was that he was going to deport evil violent immigrants that ruin society and commit crime. So he funded the shit out of ICE and now ICE is literally going on random people and just fucking them in the ass without warrants and deporting them to an occasionally killing random people.

Okay here is the thing, I'm not a fuck of this whole thing. One of my friends once told me that per-capita, immigrants committed more crimes in the US than the general population. I have no idea if that is true or not, but I'm willing to assume according to the stereotypes that it probably is not the case. The main conclusion of the studies are that Undocumented Immigrants do NOT increase the amount of Violence/Violent Crimes (murder, rape, torture) in the US. I hate it when people say "I'm willing to do the studies" yeah no, don't do that, I already did, here are the studies I'm referring to

Comparing crime rates between undocumented immigrants, legal immigrants, and native-born US citizens in Texas

Ewa Ivanova, Ph.D.[1] and Jason Ward Ph.D.[2]
[1]Department of Sociology University of Houston - Houston, TX
[2]Department of Sociology University of Houston - Houston, TX

Immigration, Criminal Involvement, and Violence in the U.S.: Do Immigrants Raise Aggregate Homicide Rates?
William Alex Pridemore, Matthew C. Kim, and Hyeon Jeong Ahn

Wendy J. Koch, Marie T. Nolan, Stephen T. Ceasar, Mark D. Cunningham, Jeffrey L. Metzner, Pablo A. Pinto, Joseph Marquez, Anne Chan, Jessica Hart, Stephen Deitz, Patricia Yang, Jennifer Gunnell, Kathryn Nicholson, Jessica Zweig, Eric Trupin, Lisa Dixon, Jeffrey Geller, Marcia Fisher, Marvin Swartz, Jeffrey Swanson, Richard Frank, Sharon Hoge, Pamela Clark, Stephen Leff, Jennifer Manuel, Deborah Rich, Paolo Ricci, Paul Fisher, Kathryn Delphin-Rittmon, Alan Delphin, Ronald Honberg, Laurie Flynn, Kathryn Power, Kathryn Sabo, Kathryn Sheehan, Ann Marie Sullivan, Roger Peele, Ronald Manderscheid, Barbara Buck, Marsha Ellison, Carol Harvey, Joseph Parks, Debra Pate, Cheryl Roberts, Jean Rhodes, Marvin Ruth, Marcia Slacum, Patricia Speck, Stephen Stile, Beverly Tatum, Jean Wyatt, Jennifer Zelnick, Ex Officio, Anne Paxton, Tim Sabo, Rosemarie Rosenfeld, Susan Dnistrian, Grace Terrell, Stan Newman, Carol Whitaker, Gordon Bazemore, Lloyd Clarke, Jeffrey Fagan, Vincent Schiraldi, Richard Production Services, Inc., Fredericksburg, VA, Chairman, Joseph P. Kennedy, II, Founder

CODE UNDOCUMENTED IMMIGRATION REFORM CRIME

Michael Light and Ty Tefft
Department of Sociology University of Houston - Houston, TX

LAW AMERICAN IMMIGRATION
CRIMINAL JUSTICE ASSOCIATION TO MEMBERS, AFFILIATES
AND FRIENDS
Ken Cole
President
Jim Pasco
Executive Director
Nancy Ness
Writing Paper Team
Jessica Vaughan, Director
CENTER FOR IMMIGRATION STUDIES
1522 K Street, NW, Suite 820
Washington, DC 20005
(202) 465-7534
www.cis.org

If you search these up, they are pretty easy to find, they are all publicly accessible. I love it when NHS just gives you these studies for free instead of locking them behind a paywall!

The NHER study actually says that immigrants are 60% less likely to commit crimes!!!

And the other papers agree that increases in undocumented population do not have a significant correlation with increases in violent crimes. So this basically disproves the entire narrative that immigrants are evil people that will come to your town and fuck shit up. Now I haven't bothered to look at the only 4 studies that are actually all completely fake and made up. Which would be a cool thing to do.

But regardless of this narrative being wrong. Donald's execution of this whole ordeal, was also un-ideally bad. Basically, the constitution says that even if you are illegal, you can't be deported without a hearing. While waiting for a trial, you have to wait in this DETENTION CENTER, which is basically a JAIL.

Donald created an environment where it's very easy to detain someone using the forbidden tactic of Racial Profiling. A judge called Jerry W Blackwell affirms that most ICE detainees have been arrested for non-violent crimes. Blackwell also says that "Kavanaugh Stops" are a thing, and this stuff would be bad enough if it was occasional, but apparently it is really common for ICE to detain completely innocent people.

Even worst than this, for some reason, even after judges order the release of innocent individuals, in many cases ICE delays the release for days weeks or months.

Judge Blackwell said this cool quote that I agree with
"It is not the law that we are willing to accept as a matter," Blackwell

A judge called Brett Kavanaugh argued in a concurrence that ethnicity can be considered a "relevant factor" for detaining someone suspicious. Therefore the DHS came up with the term "Kavanaugh Stops" for the types of stops that are basically just Racial Profiling.

Also it's safe to say that the conditions of the detention centers are sub-optimal at best. And above-right concentration camp-ish at worst Sometimes people that were legally in the US chose to get deported by ICE only to escape the harsh conditions of the detention centers.

So a lot of people disagree with ICE because of their kinda racistish and violentish behaviour towards immigrants. Thus I'm kinda hoping that Donald loses because people quit ICE in protest. This prompted the government to basically lower the standards for who can and can't join ICE. Normally, before ICEing someone for a trial, you have to wait in the DETENTION CENTER, which is some extent, which used to be a necessity since most undocumented immigrants are mexican.

This is obviously worrying because police training is absolutely essential for forbidding racism towards immigrants. Unless this is actually deliberate. A lot of people argue that this was just you some dangerous situation that lead up to unnecessary deaths. Such is the case with Renee Good and Alex Pretti.

Worst of all, the Donald's Administration didn't immediately condemn the killings of Good and Pretti. Not only did the administration not condemn the violence initially when it was first being used, but they didn't take responsibility. Instead they put the blame mostly on Good and Pretti. Donald Trump Jr. even called Pretti a domestic terrorist. Why would Trump Jr. call someone??? I will admit that they did put themselves in a rather risky situation, but cops should not use violence. Cops should be trained to avoid violence, and I wouldn't kill my grandma for a fake bill that the cops are the ones that carry the responsibility for the safety (or lack thereof) of these citizens. Trump Jr. called Pretti a domestic terrorist, and he called Israel innocent. Yes, Israel has been absolutely no one's pull out a gun, let alone shoot it, in both of these scenarios. And any properly trained Police Officer knows that pulling out a weapon is a last resort. Because if they are lacking in this department, which leads to more unreasonable detentions, searches and seizures, and overall more violence.

In conclusion, nothing about ICE makes sense to me. If most of the crimes don't come from immigrants, then the government should not focus on the immigrants, they should instead improve the overall quality of life for the average American.

But given that this was in Donald's campaign, and people actually voted for him to decrease the amount of illegal immigrants, he kinda had an obligation to do this. But even then, he did a terrible job by causing the unjustified detention of thousands of people. He put a lot of people in terrible situations because of his poor management skills. In contrast, Obama did all of this very cleanly, no unlawful detentions, no killing of innocent people. Unfortunately, Trump's is why Obama isn't seen as an evil deporter like Trump even though Obama deported more people.

Also the whole thing with Klimat Abegra Garcia where he was detained a billion times and Donald's Administration refused to let him back in, then they forced him back, and then they were sending him to Africa, but like Judgs were like "you can't do that bro" and after a long and arduous legal and apparently political battle, bro finally was free.

And the best part is that on February of 2026 a judge ruled that ICE is no longer allowed to detain him which is the funniest shit ever.
Homouarable Mentions

Now that I have gone through what I believe has been some pretty solidly objective reasons as to why I don't like Donald Trump, I'll go over a few honourable mentions that I considered too. Reasons that I am perfectly fine for people to disagree with, and I am open to somewhat changing my mind latter on.

-Israel V Palestine: Donald has been an avid supporter of Benjamin
I personally think that Benjis administration killed a little too many innocent lives, more than what they should have killed. Also, I don't like how Israel treats its Arab citizens. I know that under the circumstances presented, maybe Benji had the idea that causing the death of innocent people was a good idea, but I don't think that Israel treats its Arab citizens well, because killing innocent lives, according to Benji, is a necessary sacrifice for also causing the death of Palestinian people. Israel has been accused of Apartheid, Israel has a 50% civilian casualty rate, and also the fact that they killed more than 5 times the people that hamas killed. Israel has been accused of genocide, and I think that the heart was overall bad. Now, I think that the execution was overly brutal, therefore I chose to support anyone that opposes this unnecessary violence. These being the protesters against Hamas, against Benjamin, and by Proxy against Donald Trump

-Ukraine vs Russia: I put this here because one of my very smart and trusted individuals that I consider in the Top-Tier of people I know, told me that in Biden's time, the relationship between the Ukraine and Russia conflict was nearing a'rt end, however Donald came along and fucked it up. I don't know much about this, I don't know much about Ukraine or Russia, I haven't been doing a very good job. But that's why I am still open to discussion, because I have only heard about this from once source, given that he is a very smart and successful entrepreneur with a lot of financial knowledge and he is also very well educated on subjects and stuff, I refer to him as the BLACK OWL, but yeah, it's still only one source, prone to be extremely biased

-I don't like how he often lies/exaggerates things in his speeches for theatrical purposes. And I don't like how he often lies about his accomplishments. For example, he has lied a few times about [Blank] than me, ask anything you want about [Blank] and I'll tell you, I am an expert and that sort of knowledge. Also, he said that he was a great swimmer, but he wasn't a great swimmer in a race, just because the olympic swimmer was a woman???????Like brooky, no Donny, my guy, brooxton, You dumnad nerfherder individual, come....oh.

OBJECTIVE ANALYSIS OF NOWHERE

Trump revokes EPA finding on greenhouse gas threat in huge blow to climate change regulation

This is probably the biggest issue we are facing as a species right now, like the ultimate battle between humanity And Mother Nature ??? How does one revoke a finding??? It has been in operation for years, it has been recognized as a fact that greenhouse gasses are bad. And I haven't looked into it, but I am so goddamn sure that Donald didn't provide any scientific counter or analysis to revoke this finding, he just revoked it because he wanted to. The whole thing is just so fucking ridiculous. It is ridiculous that it can always approach the truth as closely as possible and all the scientific studies having to always be subjected to some extremely biased bullshit, and then the fact that the Republicans can just ignore the objectivity means jack shit when its injected into politics because a blonde guy with brain issues can just come in and say that it doesn't exist. And I get that the Democrat organizations is basically ignore the fact that sometimes making energy with fossil fuels is bad, and thus kill a planet Earth and all its inhabitants, but at least they try.

This is by far the most illogical and indefensible thing Donald has ever done in my opinion, I get that the guy believes that this whole thing is a hoax and that the climate is actually not changing and that the fact that it is in fact changing is a hoax created by the enemies of the government, money that could otherwise be spent in more pertinent issues like killing politicians, or more recently, iranians, or deporting Immigrants and occasionally killing US Citizens and giving them a heck of a lot of trouble just for not having been born in the US. Unless he actually does fall victim to the ideology of those dude and funds to all these medical research universities and stuff to utilize all this money responsibly.

I got a little carried away there with the subjectivity, obviously he isn't doing terrible stuff on purpose. It's a little worying how Donald once said that he would never go to heaven no matter what he did, but I guess that he doesn't even give off good vibes. And I really don't like his opinion on women and how they are like worst than men. Even though he is as disrespectful to women as he could be, I still don't get the feeling people are changing, I feel like instead he just hides it better. Plus I heard he pardoned a lot of bad people, and yeah, just overall yeah.

So that was it, those are my objective reasons I don't like Donald. mainly because he is kind of disrespectful towards women, he has done a lot of bad bad bad bad actions, even if assuming that they were a good idea in the first place, were terribly executed. And given that he is currently in the position of the EXECUTIVE BRANCH of the U.S., I would say it is safe to say that overall, Donald is a fail. Also he didn't get congressional approval to start a war with Iran but now this ah is getting too long so I'm wrap it up

Extra Add ons

So I made this document a long time ago, and now I will just be adding to this list some things that I have found which make sense to me or are in any way strong. I will mark these things as subjective and objective.

-Entering a war with Iran (28/02/2026) SUBJECTIVE

So first Trumps gets rid of the deal that Obama made with Iran. The deal had said that Iran was allowed to enrich Uranium to a certain level, and Trump said that Iran was violating it, and subject to yearly inspections. In exchange, the US would take away the sanctions they had put on Iran and everyone was happy.

Then Trump came along, claiming that this deal was dumb and stupid because it allowed the Iranians to have Nukes and now they don't have sanctions so they have more money which they can use to fund terrorist groups and stuff. Now, is this??? Kinda stupid? Yeah, I guess, I mean "she deal's off" and he re-imposed tariffs on Iran. Then Iran as retaliation created Uranium enriched to a level which is very close to weapons grade, and Trump said that the US and Israel got extremely mad and started bombing the shit out of Iran.

Now I don't really agree with Iran's retaliatory enrichment of Uranium at all, but it makes sense to me that Iran would do this because Donald unilaterally withdrew from a deal that was working. Trump decided to no longer hold that deal because of his suspicions that Iran was making a bomb. This is something that I don't agree with, I mean, he has been claiming that Iran is 2 weeks away from making a nuke for like about two decades.

Also, enriching Uranium to 60% is not useful for weapons, but it does tell you that they are capable of enriching Uranium to weapons grade levels. Also, the fact that Iran didn't have the ability to make a nuke, and Trump's decision to withdraw from the deal, sends a very clear message that Iran wants to be able to make a nuke, and that they are willing to do anything to make sure that they can. Then the US and Israel get extremely mad and started bombing the shit out of Iran.

Now I don't really agree with Iran's retaliatory enrichment of Uranium at all, but it makes sense to me that Iran would do this because Donald unilaterally withdrew from a deal that was working. Trump decided to no longer hold that deal because of his suspicions that Iran was making a bomb. This is something that I don't agree with, I mean, he has been claiming that Iran is 2 weeks away from making a nuke for like about two decades.

Also, enriching Uranium to 60% is not useful for weapons, but it does tell you that they are capable of enriching Uranium to weapons grade levels. Also, the fact that Iran didn't have the ability to make a nuke, and Trump's decision to withdraw from the deal, sends a very clear message that Iran wants to be able to make a nuke, and that they are willing to do anything to make sure that they can. Then the US and Israel get extremely mad and started bombing the shit out of Iran.

But as far as my beliefs go, I don't think Iran wasn't respecting Obama's deal, and thus it shouldn't have been terminated in the first place. But there is no way to prove myself concretely right or wrong, that's why this one is subjective.

-Posting AI Memes lot of times, but today it was 13/04/2026 OBJECTIVE

Talking about Iran (Who has also gone in a rampage of posting shitty stupid logo AI propaganda) Trump has been known in twitter for posting a lot of ridiculous AI shit. Last time this AI stuff caused him any trouble was in 05/02/2026 when he posted on his version of twitter a video where Obama and Michelle were made to look like monkeys (13/04/2026) Trump posted a picture of himself depicted as Jesus which was problematic to a lot of his christian fanbase since it very clearly was not supposed to be a compliment. Yeah, I guess.

I disagree with this first because of the use of AI, and second because all of his AI "Art" seems to be in bad taste, proving to me he hasn't really changed and he still has some bad beliefs. Also, I don't really like how he posts it, just to get a reaction, and I don't think posting some dumb stuff. I don't believe that, I think he was just using his PR team as a scape-goat. But this time he publicly blamed his team for posting the image.

-[Follow Up] Using Christianity for Profit (A lot of times) OBJECTIVE

He does use Christianity for profit, which is strictly Heretical to do. This is why any christian that follows Trump isn't really paying a lot of attention in my opinion. Bro sells Trump-Bibles for like a couple of bucks, he has been accused of selling pastors and ministers Trump-Bibles for kids you know? people with actual religious authority???? They do it for free tho, not for profit. Also, Trump's Bible is just the King James Bible with his name in it and Republican merch sold out of the church. Tbhe biblically condemns this type of greed. I guess if you follow christianity then Trump doesn't care, so unless you think using other's personal beliefs to satisfy your personal greed is an okay thing to do.